Public Hearings Ordered on Jitney Ordinance

COUNCIL DELAYS PASSAGE OF LAW BANNING BUSES

Measure Is Sent Back to Committee and Report Will Be Made at Next Meeting on February 2.

COUNCILMAN VAUGHN QUESTIONS LEGALITY

First of Series of Public Meetings Will Be Held at 3 O'Clock Friday Afternoon, January 23.

Solution of Atlanta's jitney problem was deferred Monday afternoon when city council voted to refer an ordinance designed to eliminate jitneys from the city's streets to the special traction committee of council, with the request that public hearings be held and a report returned at the next meeting of council, February 2.

The first of a series of public hearings will be held at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon, January 23, in council chamber, in city hall, it was announced by Alderman J. L. McLeod, chairman of the committee, following action of council.

Introduction of the measure, which was brought up when council suspended the regular order of business, brought out bitter arguments by opponents of each side of the question, and included an attack on legality of the entire paper.

No Change Expected. Although public hearings will be held, it is not expected that the committee will change any provisions of the ordinance, unless this is made necessary to meet legal objections. However, representatives of the jitney operators and the power company will be given opportunities to speak, and the committee's report will not be made until after hearings have been held on every phase of the situation.

The ordinance bans operation of jitneys on streets on which street cars run, or on any streets within two blocks of, and parallel to streets on which cars operate. It also specifies a congested district in which no buses may operate under any conditions.

Provision is made, however, that buses with a seating capacity of 17 or more may operate in certain sections of the city, and under the measure, bus service could be furnished for Morningside and Sylvan Hills districts, neither of which are reached by street cars.

Additional Barrier. A further barrier placed by the ordinance in the way of operating jitneys is the section which prevents any bus from operating unless an indemnity bond of $5,000 has been furnished for each passenger, based on the seating capacity. Accordingly, a bus with a seating capacity of 20 persons would be forced to furnish a bond of $100,000.

The ordinance, if adopted, would become effective 30 days after date of passage. It provides a maximum

'IRRECONCILABLES' GET INFORMATION UPON PARIS PACT

Belated Admission Made That Kellogg Tried But Failed To Get Reservations to Agreement.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER. Washington, January 19.—Fuel has been added to the fight of the senate "irreconcilables" against the Paris financial agreement by the belated admission in authoritative quarters here that Ambassador Kellogg did attempt to attach a reservation, stipulating that the American signature would apply only to such sections affecting the United States.

Kellogg sought this reservation, not at the final session as reported from Paris, but at an earlier one, it was said. Allied representatives persuaded Kellogg that such a reservation would be unwise and unnecessary, inasmuch as the written agreement did not bind the United States to European entanglements.

Only Technically Correct. The state department's denial that Kellogg made any such attempt at the plenary session is therefore technically correct. But the admission that such a reservation was sought and that Kellogg failed to have it accepted strengthens the case of the senate "irreconcilables" materially. Had such a reservation been accepted, the senators would have had no objection to the agreement. Their whole point is that they fear a general obligation has been incurred.

Previous to this development, Secretary of State Hughes issued a statement defending the document and declaring that it imposed no legal or moral obligation on the United States. Interpretations Differ. "Irreconcilable" senators—especially Chairman Borah, of the foreign relations committee, and Hiram Johnson—say that the Hughes interpretation differs from that of the European officials who signed the document. They were not satisfied with Secretary Hughes' statement and continued to insist upon examining the

TROTSKY RELIEVED AS WAR MINISTER

Threatened With Expulsion by Communists, Soviet Leader Bows To Edict in Letter.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. Moscow, January 19.—Leon Trotsky today was relieved of his duties as chairman of the revolutionary war council by the central executive committee of the communist party, the most powerful political body in Russia.

The retiring war minister also is threatened with expulsion from the communist party and from membership in all the important political bureaus, unless he conforms to party discipline and renounces his attacks upon the principles enunciated by the late Nikolai Lenin.

Mrs. G. C. Johnson Says Her Assailant Was G. C. Organ, Whose Advances She Had Rejected.

ORGAN IS ARRESTED; DENIES ALL CHARGES

60-Year-Old Prisoner Says He Was Mere Acquaintance—Victim's Husband Visits Hospital.

Shot down, while her little girl tugged at her hand, Mrs. G. C. Johnson, 30, of 156 Central avenue, Monday night was near death at Grady hospital with two bullets through her lungs. Information she gave police led to arrest of G. C. Organ, 60-year-old stenographer of a West Mitchell street address, who, she declared, was her assailant. Organ vigorously denies the accusation, asserting that he had only a casual acquaintance with the victim.

According to her story, told in the operating room of the hospital, she and her 10-year-old daughter, Louise, were approaching the corner of Trinity avenue and South Pryor street, en route to a show downtown at 7 o'clock at night when she heard a shot and felt a stinging sensation near her heart. She turned quickly, she said, to see Organ with a smoking revolver leveled at her.

Second Shot Fired. As she wheeled about to run another shot was fired, the bullet striking near the first wound. She crumpled to the ground with her little daughter weeping over her body. The gunman ran down Pryor street with no one to intercept him and disappeared.

When asked why she thought Organ shot her she cried, "Because I saw and recognized him. He was half-crazed because I wouldn't go

DAY-OLD CHICKS MAY BE SHIPPED

Poultry Embargo Does Not Bar Shipments of Baby Chicks Into or Out of Georgia.

Shipment of baby chicks from Georgia to other states in the Union is not prohibited by the poultry embargo, according to a statement on Monday by Peter F. Bahnsen, state veterinarian, who cites a ruling of the third assistant postmaster general.

This opens Georgia markets for receiving baby chicks, also, the statement set out, thus relieving a situation which has caused considerable worry among breeders and fancy poultry fanciers since Georgia's embargo went into effect two weeks ago as a preventive against the European foot disease which has wrought havoc in many states.

Dr. Bahnsen's statement follows: "The third assistant postmaster general, under date of January 10, has ruled that the postoffice department will continue to accept baby chicks for shipment until the federal department of agriculture, by regulation, prohibits the movement of baby chicks."

"This is, therefore, to advise all Georgia breeders of chicks that they may ship day-old chicks from hatcheries or farms through the mail to any state in the Union."

Enormous Damage Caused in City by Recent Heavy Rains

Photograph by Matthews & Price, Staff Photographers.

Two striking instances of the heavy damage of rains during the past week is shown in the accompanying photographs. At top, the nursery of the C. A. Dahl Floral company, located on Marietta road, near the city, is shown practically inundated. L. G. Thomson, vice president of the company, stated Monday night that the loss would run into several hundred dollars, at least, and that the total damage could not be estimated before the water recedes.

Lower photograph shows a section of Amsterdam avenue, in Boulevard Park, swept away by onrushing torrents. The huge cistern, which is shown crumpled and uprooted, could not relieve the enormous pressure of water backed against the roadbed and the entire gap gave way.

GEORGIA STUDENTS WILL ENTER U. S. ORATORY CONTEST

Georgia High School Association and Constitution Offer Chance To Capture National Honors.

In order to enlist the interest of the young men and women of the nation in American governmental institutions, a national oratorical contest is to be held during the spring school term.

Georgia schools and their students this year will be enabled to participate. The contest is held nationally, under auspices of the American Bar association, and in Georgia will be under auspices of the Georgia High School association and The Constitution.

Prizes totaling $5,000 for the first seven winners in the national contest will be divided as follows. First, $2,000; second, $1,000; third, $500; fourth, $250; fifth, $100; sixth, $50; and seventh, $30.

The Constitution has offered the following prizes for Georgia: $100 in gold to the winner of first place in the state contest; $20 in gold to the second; and $15 to each of the 12 winners in the 12 congressional districts of the state.

It is chiefly through the courtesy

CHANGANG TERMS GIVEN OFFENDERS OF PISTOL LAWS

Straight Sentences Meted Out in City Criminal Court to Three Pistol 'Toters.'

Straight chain gang sentences were meted out Monday to one white man and two negroes, convicted in city criminal court of carrying pistols in violation of the state law. Judge Andy Calhoun, in passing sentence, took occasion to point out the "evils of pistols" and referred to his indorsement recently of The Constitution's fight to ban the pistol and his promise that offenders of this character could expect nothing less than straight chain gang sentences in his court.

As soon as the packing concern could mobilize its forces, a round up was begun and squealing hundreds of the pigs were shoed back into pens again. Some 3,250 pigs were finally accounted for, after many exciting adventures had been had by all.

ATLANTA FINANCE SHEET IS PASSED WITHOUT CHANGES

Amendment Taking Money From Other Sections To Provide Madison Avenue Widening Lost.

The 1925 apportionment sheet, without a single amendment, Monday afternoon was passed by city council, and concurred in by the aldermanic board. It now awaits approval of the mayor before going into effect. Its adoption by council marks one of the few times in the city's history that such a sheet has been approved by council when first presented, and passed without amendment.

The only attempt to change any provision of the sheet was made by Councilman R. F. Pennington, of the first ward, who introduced an amendment which took $50,000 from two sections of the sheet, and applied the full amount to completion of the widening of Madison avenue.

CLEARING SKIES SEEN WEDNESDAY

Washington, January 19.—Continued rains in South Carolina and northern Georgia tomorrow, but clearing skies in other southern states where recent heavy precipitation has caused serious damage and some loss of life, were predicted here tonight by the United States weather bureau.

A prospect of relief for all of the flooded sections, however, was seen in the forecast of generally fair weather for Wednesday. Excessive moisture will give way to fair—and for some, colder—weather tomorrow in Florida, Alabama, southern Georgia, Mississippi, western Tennessee and Kentucky.

Flood waters have taken a toll of 10 lives in five southern states, made hundreds homeless and caused enormous loss to property, according to reports received in Atlanta Monday night.

Rivers and small streams throughout the south have risen to unprecedented high levels, following 10 days of heavy rains. Many lowland towns have been inundated, thousands of acres of farm lands swept by high waters, and highway and railroad traffic demoralized by washouts.

The rainfall continued throughout Monday, further endangering lives and property. Flood warnings were broadcast in various sections of Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and South Carolina.

Two youths were drowned in the Flint river at Albany, Ga., when their canoe capsized and they were swept downstream in a swirling torrent.

Four Lives Are Lost. Four negroes perished when their automobile was swept off a bridge near Hammond, La., into raging flood waters. Another negro was drowned: Columbus, Ga., when a whirlpool engulfed him when he attempted to ford a swollen creek.

Three train wrecks as the result of track washouts. Several Georgia and Alabama towns were isolated as a result of washouts on highways and railroad right-of-ways. The main business street of West Point, Ga., was a running river, five

ATLANTA WARDENS GO AFTER CHAPMAN

Notorious Bandit, Captured in Indiana, To Be Returned Here To Complete Long Sentence.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. Indianapolis, Ind., January 19.—Leaving to others "the Beatrice Fairfax stuff" of giving good advice, Gerald Chapman, called "the million dollar mail robber," is cooling his heels in jail here, waiting, with cynical gloom, the call to return him to Atlanta penitentiary, where he escaped more than two years ago.

Captured by the chief of detectives in Muncie, Ind., after he had dodged the authorities for almost two and a half years, the alleged murderer, highwayman and jail-breaker must pay for his part in a $1,400,000 mail truck robbery in New York, for which he was sentenced to 25 years' imprisonment.

Chapman's time here will be short. Federal officials will merely hold him in the county jail until deputy war-

Hearing on Receivership Plea for Trolley Company Begins Before Judge Ellis

Company Contends That Judge Newt Morris, Who Filed Petition, Has No Right to Ask Court Ac- tion.

Charging that to force the railroad to continue operation would be in violation of both the national and state constitutions, the Atlanta Northern Railway company Monday filed an answer to Judge Newt Morris' petition for a receivership for the company's properties and its petition to enjoin the company from further dismantling the tracks. Hearing began Monday morning in Fulton superior court before Judge W. J. Ellis and was continued over until 9:30 o'clock this morning at the end of the opening argument, which came early in the afternoon.

Colquitt & Conyers, counsel for the railway company, contended in demurrers filed to Judge Morris' petition that the petition set up no cause for action and that Judge Morris is entitled to no relief in that he can not show any particular interest in the road.

Insists on Main Issue. It also was alleged that the petitioner has not even shown that he is a creditor of the road, and has no right of action. Therefore, the petition is irrelevant and immaterial. Judge Morris answered this with the assertion that the issue had narrowed down to the question as to whether the railroad was making the committee and denied that any representatives of the power company influenced the committee in its decision.

"I think public hearings unnecessary," he said, "and am opposed to delegating the question to another committee. The public is entitled to be informed of all movements through the press, and has participated in discussions of the problem through newspaper forums. The committee has studied the question far more deeply than the public could, and for that reason, would hardly be influenced by public hearings."

Referring the question to a committee would be dodging the issue, and certainly would be discrediting the traction committee. Immediate action is essential to the city's welfare, and I hope this council will act on the paper today."

Questions Legal.

Councilman C. J. Vaughn questioned legality of certain sections of the measure, particularly those relating to the streets on which jitneys would be allowed to operate. City Attorney James L. Mayson admitted that he was present when the ordinance was drawn, and stated that while he had no doubt as to the legality of the measure, there are some sections which might not stand in a court fight.

Mr. Mayson also expressed doubt as to whether or not council could legally specify the seating capacity of any buses, but stated that, in an opinion based on rulings in other cities, council could bar buses from congested districts.

When questioned by Councilman Russell regarding how it would be decided what sections are congested, the city attorney stated that any streets, even in residential sections, in which traffic is heavy, or where streets are narrow, might be specified by council as congested.

Councilman Ed H. Inman, although expressing his belief in the validity of the ordinance, advocated delaying action until all members could familiarize themselves with the entire situation, and recommended that public hearings be held.

Bachman Wants Guarantee.

Alderman Bachman, who recently was deposed as chairman of the traction committee, contended that some guarantee should be given to the power company that adequate service will be furnished, and charged that if service had been adequate in the past, the present jitney situation never would have arisen. He also contended that the jitney problem does not overshadow other requests for relief from the traction company, such as an extension of the streetcar line, and asked that no action be taken until the full report of the committee is submitted.

"It is not fair to ask council members to vote on this question until all facts have been explained. The question is an economic one as far as the city is concerned, and certainly all fundamental facts should be in possession of this body before it is asked to vote on the question."

Wants Public Protected.

"I am in favor of relieving this all-important public utility, but I think that the public should be protected in every possible way. The street railway's claim that it always has furnished adequate service is open to question, and that is one of its contract obligations."

"If I have seen, and I think other members of this body also have seen, white women jammed into street cars and also have seen other evidences of the fact that proper service has not been furnished at all times. If it had been, there would be no jitney problem today. The new Girls' High school furnishes another example, and no additional service, other than the use of cars on a route several blocks distant from the school, has been provided."

"Before voting to abolish jitneys, I would like to know what the power company intends to do regarding districts now unserved by them. The company also asked for extension of fares, and made several other requests, and I think that all recommendations dealing with the company's relief petition should be acted on at the same time."

Mr. Bachman agreed that public hearings would accomplish little in solving the problem, and that the responsibility rests entirely with council. He has announced that he will present a report to council at the same time the committee reports on other phases of the power company's petition.

Vote on Ordinance.

After the discussion, Mr. McLendon's motion to place the ordinance on second reading resulted in the following vote:

Ayes—Aldermen Hartsfield, Moon, Couch, McLendon, Buchanan and Williamson, and Councilmen Pennington, Chosewood, White, Etheridge, Morris, York, Jenkins, Moore, Reynolds, Callaway, Cooper, Sudderth and Saunders.

Nays—Aldermen Armistead, Dolvin, Carpenter and Bachman, and Councilmen Wardlaw, Slappey, Allen, Inman, Butler, Inman, Russell, Knight, Johnson and House.

Because it failed to receive a two-thirds majority, the motion was lost, but further action on the paper made impossible.

Without further discussion, Alderman Hartsfield's motion to re-refer the ordinance to the special traction committee with a request that public hearings be held, was adopted.

TROLLEY COMPANY GIVEN PERMISSION TO REMOVE TRACKS

Petitions of the Georgia Railway and Power company for permission to abandon service and remove tracks on the Irwin street and West Fair-Lee street lines were granted by city council Monday, although opposition developed to the latter request.

Granting of one petition gives the power company the right to abandon service on Irwin street between Houston and Boulevard. That part of the request asking permission to remove tracks on the same line between Houston street and Forrest avenue on Boulevard was denied.

Physicians of the Georgia Baptist hospital asked that operation on the line be continued.

The other petition gives the company permission to discontinue service on Chestnut street from West Fair-Lee to Greenleaf avenue, from Chestnut to Lee street on Greenleaf avenue, from Greenleaf avenue to Park avenue on Lee street, from Lee street to Ash street on Park avenue, and from Park avenue to Gordon street on Ash street.

Both sections in which service will be abandoned were not adequately protected by the city, the petitioners stated.

NEGRO CEMETERY PERMIT OPPOSED BY CITY COUNCIL

City council went on record Monday as opposing location of a negro cemetery near the Atlanta Child's home when it voted unanimously to accept the report of the city planning commission urging the board of Fulton county commissioners to revoke the permit.

A large number of property owners protested against the cemetery near the Atlanta Child's home, claiming that the power company had ordered passage of the measure as a reflection on

SLEDGE COLLIER ELECTED SPECIAL TAX INVESTIGATOR

Sledge Collier, for 28 years an employee of the city tax assessor's office, Monday was elected special tax investigator at a meeting of city council, and will assume his new duties immediately.

Mr. Collier was nominated by Alderman W. E. Hartsfield, who told of Collier's fine record while in the city's employ. No other candidate was nominated.

CITY HALL ROOM DENIED ATLANTA EDUCATION BOARD

Request of the school department for the committee room and custodian's office, located in the rear of city hall, first department headquarters, was denied by city council Monday when the three were filed without opposition.

Papers increasing salaries of police and fire department members, Carpenters employees and employees of the sanitary and health departments which the mayor vetoed, were filed without debate.

Mr. Mayson also expressed doubt as to whether or not council could legally specify the seating capacity of any buses, but stated that, in an opinion based on rulings in other cities, council could bar buses from congested districts.

FIRST STEP TAKEN TOWARDS SELLING PROPERTY OF CITY

First official move toward selling certain city property and purchasing a site for a new municipal building was taken Monday when city council referred a resolution to that effect to the public improvements committee.

The resolution, which was introduced by Councilman W. W. Jenkins, followed recommendations made by Mayor Walter A. Sims in his annual message to council that the present city hall, first department headquarters and police barracks be sold, and a new municipal building which would house all city departments, be constructed.

The public improvements committee now is authorized to consider offers for the city buildings, and also to consider a site for the new structure.

CHANGE IN RULE ON FORSYTH ST. PARKING ASKED

Claiming that a number of Atlanta business men have complained regarding the ordinance passed by council last month making Forsyth street between Marietta and Alabama a no parking district, Alderman Jesse W. Armistead Monday introduced a motion in city council to repeal the measure, and put the one-hour parking law back in effect.

No action was taken, the resolution being referred to the traffic committee.

JOHNSON RESIGNS PLACE ON COUNCIL STREET COMMITTEE

Resignation of Councilman W. R. Johnson, of the Eleventh Ward, as a member of the street committee of city council, and appointment of Alderman J. L. Carpenter in his place, were announced Monday afternoon by Mayor Walter A. Sims.

Mr. Johnson, who served as a member of the committee throughout 1924, explained that the stress of private business made it impossible for him to devote the required amount of time to his duties as street committee member, and that it was only fair to his constituents that some other member of his ward delegation be given the post.

RIGHT TO ISSUE PERMITS DENIED POLICE CHAIRMAN

Authority of the chairman of the police committee of city council to issue temporary permits for jitney drivers, and for hotels, rooming houses, and pool rooms, Monday was denied by city council by adoption of an ordinance by Councilman Ed H. Inman, chairman of the police committee.

Mr. Inman stated that the number of such permits are requested, none of them are necessary, and that permits should be obtained by the regular procedure of requesting them of council.

REQUEST IS MADE FOR CITY'S QUOTA OF PENSION FUND

Appropriations from the city to equal the amount turned over to the firemen's pension fund were requested Monday by Alderman Jesse W. Armistead. The paper was referred to the ordinance committee. At present, each member of the fire department contributes one per cent of his salary to the fund.

OFFER TO FURNISH TAXICABS FOR CITY SENT TO COMMITTEE

An offer of A. L. Belle Isle, president of the Atlanta Baggage and Cab company, to furnish transportation for all city employees now given automobiles by the city, Monday was referred to the finance committee of city council.

Mr. Belle Isle claims that his company will furnish transportation at a much lower cost than the city now pays. At present, approximately $90,000 a year is spent for city cars.

PLEA IN BEHALF OF JITNEYS SENT TO CITY COUNCIL

Contention that jitneys are the best guarantee against tie-up of Atlanta's transportation facilities was expressed in a communication addressed to the mayor and general council of Atlanta by W. E. Dunn, Jr., secretary of the Southern Motor Trades association.

"I am informed that 1,200 of the street car workers are members of labor union," Mr. Dunn stated in his letter. "We can not afford to let them strike for higher pay and tie up transportation. It would not be the first time that such a thing happened. What better insurance have we against such a condition than the jitneys?"

The letter was ordered filed.

LIGHTS ARE ASKED ON SAFETY ISLES IN CITY STREETS

A request of the Atlanta Safety council that the Georgia Railway and Power company be asked to place lights at each end of the safety isles located on several downtown streets, together with a revision of Councilman W. E. Saunders asking that the city install the lights, Monday was referred to the electric lights committee of city council this year.

The communication of the safety council stated that the isles, which are used by passengers in boarding and alighting from street cars, are barely discernible at night, and that lights are needed to prevent accidents.

VETOES OF SIMS UPHELD. MONDAY BY CITY COUNCIL

That administration forces hold a majority in the 1925 council was indicated Monday when, at the first business session of the new council, members voted to sustain four vetoes of Mayor Walter A. Sims. A vote was necessary on only one, as the other three were filed without opposition.

Papers increasing salaries of police and fire department members, Carpenters employees and employees of the sanitary and health departments which the mayor vetoed, were filed without debate.

Mr. Mayson also expressed doubt as to whether or not council could legally specify the seating capacity of any buses, but stated that, in an opinion based on rulings in other cities, council could bar buses from congested districts.

When questioned by Councilman Russell regarding how it would be decided what sections are congested, the city attorney stated that any streets, even in residential sections, in which traffic is heavy, or where streets are narrow, might be specified by council as congested.

Councilman Ed H. Inman, although expressing his belief in the validity of the ordinance, advocated delaying action until all members could familiarize themselves with the entire situation, and recommended that public hearings be held.

ATLANTA FINANCE SHEET IS PASSED

Amendment Defeated. After a long argument and several counter proposals, the amendment was defeated by a vote of 19 to 14, and the sheet was adopted as presented.

Mr. Pennington also tried to hold up the sheet by asking reconsideration, as he had been given assurance that he had been given assurance that the Madison avenue project would be given later in the year.

Adoption of the sheet is accepted as the most stringent economy in Atlanta's history, as never before was the year started without at least some money for public improvements and salary increases.

Mayor in Agreement.

Mayor Sims attended several executive sessions of the finance committee at which the sheet was drafted, and as it is known that the sheet is in accord with his policies, it is expected that he will approve it today.

Pennington proposed to take $25,000 from the amount given the Community Chest and apply it, with a similar amount to be taken from the fund for new water mains, to the Madison avenue improvement. He stated that $33,000 already spent by the city on the project would be lost unless more money is given this year, and that more than $150,000 additional would be lost, as money raised by property owners, with that appropriated by the county, will reach that total.

While practically all members of council favor finishing of Madison avenue work, many were opposed to taking the fund from the water department, contending that the city's parsimony is based largely on the growth of its water system.

As a solution, Alderman Jesse W. Armistead proposed that an additional $33,000 be anticipated from the recorder's court fines, which, when the school department's 26 per cent has been deducted, would leave approximately $25,000 for Madison avenue.

However, the amendment was defeated, and the sheet adopted with Mr. Pennington casting the only dissenting vote.

BONUS LAW ATTACKS THROWN OUT OF COURT

Washington, January 19.—Two cases attacking the soldier bonus law were thrown out today by the supreme court.

The court refused an appeal by Benjamin Catchings of New York, who sought to require the courts of the District of Columbia to pass upon the constitutionality of the act and likewise denied a motion of Frank C. McInerney and others designed to compel the lower courts to pass on the merits of an injunction proceeding against enforcement.

Both of the cases were of a technical character and in neither did the highest court express any affirmative opinion as to the validity of the law.

Bill Hart's Wife Wins Legal Right To Work in Films

Los Angeles, January 19.—Winifred Westover Hart today won a victory over William S. (Bill) Hart, motion picture actor, and obtained legal right to return to screen work under her full name until such time as she should obtain a divorce by a decision in the superior court here.

Judge Albert Lee Stephens held that a separation agreement entered into by the Harts was illegal and in contravention of the code. The case was a suit by Mrs. Hart for cancellation of the clause in the separation agreement by which she had agreed not to return to screen work.

Hart in combating the suit, testified that it would work considerable damage to him should she use the name of Hart on the screen.

The court held that a trust fund of $102,000 created for her and a trust fund of $100,000 for the Hart baby would be held intact.

The Harts ran into domestic trouble on May Day, 1922, six months after their marriage, and they framed a separation agreement after repeated efforts by the actor, she testified, to have her go to Reno and obtain a divorce.

Judge Stephens, in announcing the decision, said this suit was decided the case carefully for evidence of collusion or fraud, but had found no trace of any. The decision held that her legal name was Winifred Westover Hart and that she would be entitled to make use of it in her profession until such time as a divorce might change the status of her name.

Bonus Law Attacks THROWN OUT OF COURT

Washington, January 19.—Two cases attacking the soldier bonus law were thrown out today by the supreme court.

The court refused an appeal by Benjamin Catchings of New York, who sought to require the courts of the District of Columbia to pass upon the constitutionality of the act and likewise denied a motion of Frank C. McInerney and others designed to compel the lower courts to pass on the merits of an injunction proceeding against enforcement.

Both of the cases were of a technical character and in neither did the highest court express any affirmative opinion as to the validity of the law.

Allies Feel United States Is Morally Bound To Help Collect German Reparations

Significance of Paris Pact Is in Its Implications Rather Than Its Technical Wording.

BY JOHN O'BRIEN.

Paris, January 19.—What do the European allies actually expect of the United States as a result of the country's participation in the Paris agreement for collecting reparations from Germany?

The answer is that, regardless of what the agreement itself does or does not provide, the allies believe that America, whether she admits it or not, is morally bound to help collect reparations from Germany.

There is nothing in the agreement that any irreconcilable senator may not scrutinize with safety. But in the implications of the document, in the situation that has been created by its creation with American participation, the allies see cause for support from the United States. America having entered an agreement to collect money from Germany, the allies argue that America will protect

Piles

Can't Be Cured From the Outside.

External treatments seldom cure Piles. No cure without internal treatment. The cause is inside—bad circulation. The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby. The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send a fresh current through the stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Outcomes and cures are guaranteed.

J. B. Lomhardt, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1,000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless, pleasant, easy to take, and can always be found at Jacobs' Drug Stores, who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.—(adv.)

More cars are destroyed by fire each year in the garage than on the open road. As much money is spent in garage rent each year as would adequately build new garages for all cars involved.

Own your own garage. Build of fire-proof materials.

Concrete has substance. The Panama Canal, the Cuddy Bridge and many other mammoth structures have proved its strength and the reliability of Atlas.

Concrete has form. In the University at Baton Rouge and in other places it has shaped itself to unusual needs.

And now concrete has color. By using naturally colored sand and stone with Atlas, either in its normal gray tone, or pure white, any range of color can be secured, and such color is an integral part of the concrete.

Since it's worth while to do most jobs permanently, it's worth while to insist on using Atlas Portland Cement.

The Atlas Mill at Leeds, Alabama, and sales office in the Brown Building at 2000 First Avenue, Birmingham, Alabama, afford unusual facilities for obtaining Atlas in the South.

International Birth Control Advocated To Prevent War

OVER POPULATION CITED AS BIG CAUSE

BY ROBERT D. LUSK.

Washington, January 19.—Gathered here to discuss unemotionally the causes and cure of war, 300 women, delegates of nine national women's organizations, Monday afternoon were thrown into a discussion of birth control as a means of preventing war.

"War cannot be prevented until a systematic international program of birth control is established," Professor Warren Thompson, of Miami University, of Oxford, Ohio, declared in answer to a challenge by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, chairman of the conference, that there must be some means of preventing international conflicts before such a program could be put into effect.

"Overpopulation and migration of peoples is the big cause of war," Professor Thompson said. "Until birth control can be popularized to the extent that these factors causing international friction can be eliminated, wars are inevitable."

"It is true that within 75 or 100 years, if the birth rate continues at its present pace, the food supply of the world will be insufficient to support life," Thompson was asked by one of the prominent women who joined in the discussion.

He said he believed that it was, and then, answering a fire of questions from all parts of the hall, he described what he believed to be the ultimate solution of the problem of overpopulation and migration. An international organization will limit certain people to certain areas, he declared. It will then be the duty of the various nations to limit their birth rate so that they will never overpopulate their designated areas.

For the present, the conference, representing millions of women throughout the United States, is limiting itself to a study of the causes of war. Later in the week, it is the purpose of the women to take up the cure, and finally, they will draft resolutions and adopt a definite educational program directed toward ending war.

So far, the causes of war have been listed as follows:

1. Overpopulation and migrations of peoples.
2. Sense of national insecurity.
3. Competition in armament.
4. Economic rivalries.
5. Imperialism.
6. Raw materials and markets.
7. Diplomacy.
8. Mass Psychology.

Cynical in Comment.

"I'm not going to live long enough to serve all the years they're going to stick me," he commented Monday, adding, "I'm guilty of a lot of things, some big crimes included, but there are lots of things they're accusing me of unjustly."

In New York they call the soft-spoken Gerald the "Count of Gramercy Square." Even if Gerald never got any nearer to that title of old-time aristocracy than the near-by free lunches on Twenty-third street, he has retained some passing touch of the grand manner.

Newspapermen pressed him for the same words that most bandits utter when they back in the free publicity that hurls upon the household gods. Would he advise young men to abstain from banditry, they asked?

Don't Like Sob Stuff.

"Thought Beatrice Fairfax handled all that. You know I don't like that kind of stuff—it's all trash," Gerald answered.

Gerald was bored.

"There were a number of circumstances—such as the publicity—of which I am not interested in," was his comment.

"Don't know," was his answer as to whether he thought he could escape from the local penitentiary. He did it in Atlanta twice, and in Indianapolis police are taking no chances.

Chapman's fondness for Muncie was explained when it became known that a large amount of his loot is being held in a Muncie bank.

PISTOL CARRIERS GET GANG TERMS

both negroes, received sentences of eight and ten months, respectively. All three were haled before the court on charges of carrying pistols.

Two weeks ago, a few days after The Constitution inaugurated its campaign to outlaw the itinerant pistol, Judge Calhoun expressed his hearty approval of the campaign, lauded the initiation of the move by this newspaper and declared that of fenders of pistol laws would be given "straight chain gang sentences."

Judge Calhoun was one of the first officials to publicly indorse The Constitution's campaign. "There is no place in this country's society for the 'hip-pocket pistol toter,'" the judge declared in sentencing the three men Monday. "The pistol is a menace and a threat to every law and so far as I am able to do so I shall lend my influence to curbing an evil which is at the root of a majority of crime in Georgia."

Leading court officials and citizens of the state have joined in the move to outlaw the pistol. The judge, clubs and women's clubs have passed resolutions indorsing the campaign and praising The Constitution, while ministers and laymen in all sections of the state have written to commend the fight and to offer their support of the move. Newspapers throughout Georgia have taken up the fight.

The campaign, from all indications, is arousing such a sentiment against pistols over the state that many legislators assert that the forthcoming session of the legislature will take up an anti-pistol measure early in its session.

(From The Fayetteville News.)

The Atlanta Constitution has started a commendable crusade against the carrying of pistols. Carrying a pistol saves anyone trouble, but more often causes useless murders.

(From The Oglethorpe Echo.)

"The fight against pistols and pistol toting is not confined to Georgia. Congress has voted to exclude the weapons from the mails. It ought to go further and forbid their manufacture in this country except under governmental supervision for governmental purposes."

(From The Macon Telegraph.)

It is said that at least one local dealer has agreed to discontinue the sale of pistols. And there is no reason to believe that such a move should be a cessation to the indiscriminate sale of such weapons. The firearms of this character reposing in the windows of pawnshops especially are a lure and invitation to the country boy, the negro who is not so disposed to let his imagination travel the evil road of lawlessness, and others. This display is a temptation that might well be outlawed, in some fashion or another. It is an evil that should be stamped out. And those who have waked up to the fact that it should go to be congratulated. It is a matter worthy the attention of every civic club.

(From The Greensboro News-Herald.)

The Atlanta Constitution's fight on the pistol should bear fruit. "The lightning" and a pistol is causing loss of devils in dear old Georgia.

(From The Windsor News.)

The entire state of Georgia is behind The Atlanta Constitution in its warfare on the pistol. The people will be disappointed if the legislature doesn't outlaw a pistol.

(From The Washington News-Reporter.)

Sentiment is fast crystallizing against the practice of pistol "toting," and when this man-killer is outlawed a long step will have been taken to check the wave of murders in Georgia and over the country. . . . Make it a felony to own a pistol and a felony to sell a pistol in Georgia, and we will see some leadway toward darning the people.

BALDWIN JURIST

HITS PISTOL "TOTER."

Millersville, Ga., January 19.—(Special.)—A ringing indorsement of The Atlanta Constitution's fight against the itinerant pistol was made at the opening of the January session of Baldwin superior court at Millersville, by Judge James B. Parks, presiding.

In his charge to the grand jury the well-known judge of Georgia took occasion to flay the pistol as a menace to society and expressed his belief that the "concealed pistol" is responsible for a majority of present crimes in Georgia and asserted that it should be outlawed.

In the beginning of his charge Judge Parks commended the "fearless

HOME-OWNING DEBATED AT THRIFT WEEK MEET

Development of building and loan associations in Atlanta was the topic of the first thrift week meeting, held last night in the Chamber of Commerce building under the auspices of the Junior Chamber.

The opinion expressed by all the speakers that the next ten years would see an enormous growth in mutual savings associations in Georgia.

George W. West presided and introduced R. S. Barker, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, as the first speaker. Mr. Barker declared that building and loan associations had been given a back end in Georgia on account of the experience of some associations about thirty years ago, and by adverse legislation.

He predicted figures to show that Atlanta was the fastest growing city in the south, citing one real estate development which had built more homes in the past year than had been built in any two other cities in the state. He declared that the enterprises now in prospect for Atlanta would necessitate the building of a great many working class homes and support many building and loan associations.

Community Good.

The third speaker, J. M. Collier, treated the subject mainly from the standpoint of the community good. There was nothing that made for good citizenship like home ownership, he said, and there was no other agency so instrumental in home ownership as building and loan associations.

T. B. Conner, chief examiner of the Georgia Securities commission, explained how his department of the state government came to be interested in the building and loan movement. The commission was created to prevent fraud, he said, and was exceedingly careful about lending its indorsement to any business. After the law was amended so as to include shares offered in building and loan associations, he said that he had studied this development and the commission had decided to encourage the growth of these mutual home ownership societies in every way that it could.

Arthur W. Brooks, president of the First Mutual Savings association, told how he was interested in the movement. He declared that he had spent too long building up a good name for himself and was now doing something that could reflect on it. He paid a high tribute to the disinterested young men who had given their time and money to the building and loan development in Georgia and congratulated them on the progress made.

Councilman Speaks.

Horace Russell, member of council for the eighth ward and sponsor of the Junior Chamber thrift week movement, showed how the federal government had been building up a loan associations in many ways. He did not believe that any additional legislation was needed to build up associations in Georgia similar to those in Ohio, North Carolina and other progressive states. Under the supervision of the securities commission, he declared, mutual building and loan associations would be protected against the competition of crooked and reckless promoters and held to their legitimate functions.

Russell predicted that within another year building and loan associations in Atlanta would number thousands of people in their membership and would be recognized as an important asset in the upbuilding of the city and state.

TAYLOR WILL SPEAK TO EXCHANGE CLUB

Dr. Charles Francis Taylor, noted psychoanalyst, lecturer and writer of New York city, will be principal speaker at the luncheon of the Atlanta Exchange club at 12:30 o'clock today in the ball room of the Henry Hotel. Dr. Taylor is a interested in the rehabilitation of building and loan development in Georgia and congratulated them on the progress made.

Dr. Taylor's lecture will be a number of solos by Frank Cundell.

fight which The Atlanta Constitution is making" and expressed his belief that sentiment against the sale of pistols in Georgia is being aroused to such a point that the Georgia legislature no doubt will pass drastic laws regarding the sale and carrying of pistols at its session this summer.

British Delegate Torpedoes American Plan To Suppress Traffic in Opium in World

England Ready To Abolish Opium Smoking in Pacific After China Prevents Production.

Geneva, January 19.—The United States apparently has lost her fight to convert the world to the extinction of the opium traffic.

In a diplomatically worded phrase, Viscount Cecil, of Chelwood, the former Lord Robert Cecil today destroyed all but meager hope for the American plan for suppression of opium smoking.

Stephen G. Porter, the chief American delegate to the league of nations anti-narcotic conference, which reconvened Monday, will reply to Cecil and to the French and Dutch delegates Tuesday.

With the chiefs of their respective delegations changed since the conference ended in a wordy quarrel in December, it was believed that France, Britain and Holland had changed their attitude toward the American plan and would agree to a compromise embodying its main features.

Torpedoes American Hopes.

Viscount Cecil addressed the conference when it met Monday afternoon. He torpedoed American hopes when he said that his government stood by its previous contention that the conference is incompetent to consider the American proposals to reduce and finally to suppress opium smoking in the Pacific countries over a period of ten years.

Then Cecil exploded the bomb that apparently has wrecked the American cause.

England is ready, he said, to agree to the abolition of opium smoking in her Pacific possessions within 15 years after China effectively prevents opium production and the smuggling of opium into the British dependencies.

Chance Is Slight.

The chances of China, in a chronic state of civil war since 1912, effectively preventing smuggling across her borders, when the powerful United States is unable to halt the flow of liquor into American territory, is believed to be slight. The end of the 15-year period proposed by Cecil lies somewhere in the distant future.

As a sop, and a substantial one, to the United States, Cecil proposed the appointment of a commission of experts, with an American chairman, to visit the British territories in the Pacific. The commission would be empowered to ascertain what has been done toward abolishing opium smoking. If the commission should report to the league that additional measures can be taken effectively, Cecil pledged Britain to consider them.

Breaks British Precedent.

This proposal was the maximum British concession. League members say it is the first time in history that Britain ever admitted the right of a foreign government to investigate her administration of the empire.

The Dutch and French delegates backed Cecil's refusal to accept Porter's plan, insisting that the conference is not competent to consider the American proposals.

The next move is Porter's. It is hardly conceivable that he could bring the conference to his view after the Monday session.

TEN MEET DEATH IN GREAT FLOOD

feet deep. Lowland sections of Columbus, Ga., were also inundated. Hundreds were driven from their homes by the high waters in southern Alabama cities of Montgomery, Selma and Girard.

The entire village of Hamburg, S. C., was inundated, and its negro residents forced to abandon their homes.

ATLANTA-MACON TRAFFIC ON SOUTHERN SUSPENDED

All traffic over the Southern railroad between Atlanta and Macon was suspended Monday on account of washouts on the line between the two cities, caused by the torrential rains of the past two weeks and the resultant flood stages of the rivers.

Through trains are being rerouted over the Central of Georgia lines, it was stated, but local trains between the two cities necessarily have been suspended for the time being. It is hoped to resume the tracks so that traffic can be resumed by tonight, it was stated by officials of the roads, but this largely depends upon the rain ending and the flood stages of the rivers beginning to recede.

Partial Traffic.

Partial traffic is open between Atlanta and Juliette, it was stated, but breaks in the line between that point and Cochran, south of Macon, have rendered it impossible between Juliette and Cochran.

The line is reported washed out at several points, while the tracks at several feet above the tracks at other places. "Dames Ferry, just north of Macon, was reported impassable early Monday. Other breaks, however, have come since and the line is now entirely impassable between Jackson and Cochran.

With a weather forecast of more rain for Tuesday in the northern part of the state and fair in the southern sections, prospects for resumption of direct travel between Atlanta and Macon before Wednesday are believed slight, but the road is making every effort to repair the washed out track and, if swollen rivers begin to recede from their present record-breaking flood stages not later than this morning, it is believed it will be possible to make repairs so that travel over the line may be resumed tonight.

More Rain for Today.

With train service demoralized, all highways south of Macon closed to traffic, with the rivers of Georgia recording flood stages breaking all records, Weather Forecaster C. F. von Herrmann, in charge of the local office of the U. S. bureau here, Monday predicted more rain for Atlanta on Tuesday. However, he stated, relief is likely by Wednesday, the outlook for that day and the remainder of the week being "generally fair."

The Chattahoochee and Flint rivers are at exceedingly high stages and will continue to rise, according to reports received at the weather bureau. At West Point the Chattahoochee was remain steady for the next 24 hours, it is expected, but at Columbus an additional foot rise is probable, bringing the river height there to 46 feet; at Eufula another foot will bring it to over 58 feet and at Alaga an anticipated 2 feet more will raise it to 43 feet. The Flint river at Albany will rise 2 feet more to above 35 feet.

breaking all records there, while Bainbridge also will reach 35 feet, another record. The Apalachicola at River Junction and Blountstown, Fla., will exceed its 1916 record, it is stated.

As a result of desperate efforts, with tractors supplied by the state highway department, workers succeeded in keeping the road between Atlanta and Macon open to automobile traffic on Monday. But all roads south of the central city were reported as impassable. Bridges, culverts and fills were washed away in numerous places and the department had hundreds of emergency workers striving to repair damage in all parts of south Georgia.

Tourists Are Held Up.

Reports from Athens Monday afternoon stated that more than 100 tourists en route to Florida by automobile, are being held by the continued rain and condition of the roads between Athens and Macon. A number of motorists who have tried to make the trip have telegraphed back to friends advising them not to attempt it.

Roads in the state that were impassable Monday, as given out by the Atlanta Motor club, are: from Douglas to Macon, via the "Yolk" country line to Buchanan, Shapshurp to Griffin, Canton to Jasper, Chipley to Hamilton, Perry to Hawkinsville, Milledgeville to Americus, Vienna to Vienna, Louisa to Dawson, Lumpkin to Preston, Georgetown to Dawson, Camilla to Thomasville, Gibson to Wrens, Waynesboro to Richmond county line, Lyons to Reidville, Chatham county line to Darien, Nahutta to Brunswick, Folkston to Jacksonville.

Railroad service was seriously deranged Monday, officials of the various roads pointed out, with even greater demoralization anticipated as the downpour continued in the afternoon. All trains coming through West Point were several hours late. The Atlanta and West Point passenger train No. 20, from Montgomery, due to arrive at 11:25 p. m. Sunday, did not reach Atlanta until 2:30 a. m. Monday.

By Monday morning it was necessary to reroute trains over this road, the new route between Atlanta and Montgomery being by way of Newnan, then over the Central of Georgia to Opelika, Ala., and again over the A. S. W. P. tracks to Montgomery.

A train leaving Atlanta at 8:25 a. m. Monday was forced to turn back at West Point, when the tracks over the line in Alabama were found to be three feet under water.

The Dixie Limited, running between Jacksonville and Atlanta, over the N. C. and S. L., was more than 11 hours late, reaching here at 8:40 a. m. Monday, instead of 7:30 p. m. Sunday.

Phonics Out of Commission.

Rains in Atlanta caused serious damage and inconvenience in many instances. More than 1,500 telephones were reported out of commission on Monday as a result of the rains, while part of the writing and foundations of the new building being constructed for the Old Ladies' home, on Ashby street, and West End avenue, was washed away.

The total rainfall in Atlanta, according to records at the weather bureau, has been over 11 inches since January 1, breaking records for the same period since January, 1885. From 7 o'clock Saturday morning to the same hour Monday, Atlanta experienced a fall of 4.25 inches of rain. During the entire year 1924 the rainfall totaled only 46.5 inches, only four times as much as has already fallen in 1925.

Hundreds of basements are filled with water and city forces were busy all day Monday pumping them out. On account of the steadiness of the downpour, city sewers have been unable to carry away the water without damage to the streets, the only serious collapse being that on James street, early Sunday morning when four persons were injured and an automobile ran into a 20-foot deep washout.

Donaldson Gives Warning.

Clark Donaldson, assistant superintendent of construction for the city, gave warning Monday that several city streets were likely to cave in unless the several worst-off streets were promptly replaced. The James street sewer, he said, was about 30 years old and completely worn out. He stated that work of repairing the city sewer would begin at once and the department hoped to have the street open for traffic shortly, but he added that the entire sewer from the corner of James and Cain streets to the corner of Fairlie, should be replaced at once if similar collapses are to be averted in the future. The cost of the work, he said, would be about $15,000.

W. Zode Smith, manager of the city waterworks, stated that there was no danger from the Chattahoochee any where near Atlanta, the river at no time having been within ten feet of the danger mark, while it was falling 4.1 day Monday.

TRAINS ALL STOP SOUTH OF MACON.

Macon, Ga., January 19.—The Chattahoochee river here had risen to 27.5 feet at 10 o'clock and was expected according to the United States weather bureau to rise to 28.5 feet during the night. A large force of men is at work placing sand bags along the levee near the entrance to Central City park.

Several small houses from East Macon floated down stream during the afternoon, one of these being dynamited in an effort to erect a bridge under which it passed.

Because of washouts the Macon, Dublin & Savannah railroad is operating no trains.

The Southern railway line between Macon and Atlanta was abandoned last night and is still under water. Not a train is moving south of Macon, it was officially announced by the railroads here tonight.

The main line of the Southern railway to Jacksonville is under water; the Georgia, Florida and Florida division of the same railroad has a bad washout near Vienna; the Central of Georgia railway's southwestern division has not been in operation since a washout near Fort Valley, and the Macon, Dublin & Savannah railway has washouts at a trestle here and at several other points, being completely out of commission. There is no other outlet through this city and will not be until the flood water recedes.

Northbound Southern train No. 6, operating on the Georgia Southern and Florida railway, due here at 1:40 p. m., just got over a repaired portion of the track. Vienna, Ga., tonight, when the track gave way again. The Southern had expected to operate through trains over this route later in the night, but it is not now if any more trains are moved south of here. No. 6 will be about nine hours late.

SOUTHWEST GEORGIA IN THROES OF FLOOD.

Albany, Ga., January 19.—(Special.)—Southwest Georgia is in the grip of the worst flood situation in its history with Flint river and its tributaries still rising after having passed by more than two feet their former high-water marks.

Every hydro-electric plant in this section is entirely out of commission, and the auxiliary steam plant of the Georgia Alabama Power company here is being operated under serious handicaps, owing to the flood in Kinchafoonee creek, near which the plant stands.

Hunt Is Futile.

Some portions of the Dixie highway in Mitchell county are reported under flood and condition of the roads in places smaller streams have entered new channels, which cut across country and present impassable barriers of water on important highways. The operation of school trucks throughout this entire section has been almost entirely abandoned on account of road conditions.

The main part of Albany is in no danger, being built on a bluff high above the river.

HEAVY DAMAGE AT MILLEDGEVILLE.

Milledgeville, Ga., January 19.—(Special.)—With a rainfall of nine inches in the past four days and rain still pouring, the Oconee river has risen to a height of 41.5 feet and is rising. This is the highest it has ever been and people are becoming alarmed.

The river at the bridge has swollen to such an extent that the water is flowing over the top of the bridge. The bridge is in no danger, as it stands six feet above high water now, but no traffic can pass except by boats.

The hydro-electric plant is out of commission and has suffered much damage.

Lumber interests here and down the river are suffering from the loss. A few miles below the city the river is more than five miles in width. The properties of Chandler Bros., including a ginney, cottonseed houses and general merchandise store, are partly submerged and a large stock of seed and merchandise is badly damaged.

Trestles and bridges are being washed away. The river is so high that it is impossible to hold them steady. Two of the highways out of the city are water-covered and traffic is arrested.

MONTEZUMA MAROONED BY FLOOD WATERS.

Montezuma, Ga., January 19.—(Special.)—Montezuma practically is marooned by the high water, and with rain still falling no immediate relief is being obtained. The train cannot pass Fort Valley on the Central of Georgia railroad. No trains have been operated on the A. B. & C. line since Sunday night. The town has been without lights since Thursday and the water supply will last only a few hours, the pumps and cisterns being inundated by backwater from the river.

Bateaux are being used in the street nearest Beaver creek. In the stores being inundated, the water has been removed from the ground floor and in some business houses the water is three feet deep.

Boats are being operated by city authorities to convey residents who live across the creek and to from business. The river is said to be high here, making it impossible to travel east or west.

HIGHWAYS SLASHED NEAR LOUISVILLE.

Louisville, Ga., January 19.—(Special.)—Louisville today is almost completely isolated today on account of high water raging in all streams in this section since Friday morning. The official rainfall in this section is practically eight inches, and rain is still pouring. The Oconee river today reached the highest point since the Harrison bridge bridge here was still in place. The rainfall here from 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon to 8 o'clock this morning was 2.70 inches, and with streams already raging considerably apprehension is felt for bridges in every direction.

A bridge over Big creek on the Dixie highway, four miles east of here, is reported gone this morning. Water from Rock Comfort creek and the Oconee river covers the Jeff Davis highway, making it impossible on all highways. The Louisville and Wadley railroad is still operating trains, but their line is threatened in several places and may be washed away any minute. The Central of Georgia tracks are reported under water between Wadley and Barlow 10 miles south of here. A trestle on the main line, Gertrude, six miles east of Wadley, was washed out this morning. All trains are tied up.

TOURISTS MAROONED AS ROADS CRUMBLE.

Athens, Ga., January 19.—More than 100 tourists, en route to Florida by automobile, are held here by continued rains and condition of the highways between Athens and Macon. Parties who attempted to get through via Monticello and Madison Saturday have telegraphed here advising others to attempt to make the trip. The Oconee river is high here but has caused no damage. More than eight inches of rain has fallen here in the last ten days.

ROME STILL SAFE AS RIVERS RISE.

Rome, Ga., January 19.—The Coosa, Oostanula and Etowah rivers converging here reached 28 feet early this afternoon but no damage was reported. It is expected that more than 30 feet will be reached within 24 hours, which would probably cause much damage here. Reports from above Rome indicate a continued rise, as a heavy rainfall has been recorded.

FLOOD REFUGEES REACH FORT GALES.

Fort Gaines, Ga., January 19.—The rains have played havoc with Clay county roads and bridges. About 12 bridge either have been washed away or put out of commission. The lone covered wooden bridge across Pataua creek on the river road to Eufula has been wrecked and also the Mr. Grader bridge on the same road, while many other smaller bridges have been washed away.

The roads have been badly damaged by the recent rains and traveling cars has been discontinued on some roads. Many farmers came to town today on mule-back. Lowlands are under water and many fields are covered with water waist deep. All streams are out of their banks.

The Chattahoochee river is 48 feet and the flood has stopped the work on the new bridge on the Alabama side. The Georgia-Alabama Power company's plant at Criddle Mill has been put out of commission on account of backwater from the river and the city is without current and will be so until the water runs down.

CHATTAHOOCHEE FALLING AT COLUMBUS.

Columbus, Ga., January 19.—After going to 45 1/2 feet early this morning, the Chattahoochee river began to recede at noon and early tonight it stood at 45 feet, one inch less. The waters were at a standstill at that time.

Industry in Columbus was crippled by the high river, which left the banks at several places. The Columbus Electric and Power company was not able to carry its full load.

SAVANNAH IS FREE FROM FLOOD DANGER.

Savannah, Ga., January 19.—Trains coming into Savannah are being delayed as a result of the high water. The river is 38.8 feet, rising rivers. Travel by automobile has also been made most difficult. Most of the dirt roads in this section are impassable, although the going is not pleasant and in some instances detours are necessary. There is no danger from flood waters here as the river spreads out over the marsh lands above here.

LEVEE HOLDING FLOOD AT AUGUSTA.

Augusta, Ga., January 19.—The Savannah river at Augusta registered a stage of 38 feet 2 inches today, and Ed Smith, local meteorologist, has predicted a stage of from 36 to 37 feet by tomorrow morning.

The levee stretching a distance of 11 miles on this Augusta side of the river is keeping the city safely out of water, but the foothills of North Augusta and all of Hamburg on the South Carolina side are flooded. No loss of life or damage to property has been reported.

The highest mark ever reached by the river, according to the records of the weather bureau, is 38.8 feet, recorded in 1908. The last time it was ever as high as 38 feet it went to 36.12, in 1912, and the highest mark reached since the levee was built, prior to now, was in 1918, when it went to 35.4 feet.

WEST POINT CITIZENS FLEE BEFORE FLOOD.

West Point, Ga., January 19.—(Special.)—Some sections of West Point are under water, but the levee held, and tonight the Chattahoochee river began a slow recession. Streets were flooded about 18 inches part of today, and the river reached a depth of 25 feet, but the total damage was estimated at about $10,000, and approximately $5,000 in damage to industrial plants was dispelled, in a large measure, as the water began to drop.

Low-lying districts were about five feet under water this morning, and fears were felt for the safety of the levee, which will withstand water as high as 27 feet.

About fifty families made homeless as they fled from the waters were being cared for tonight by Red Cross and other relief organizations. Industrial plants have suffered to some extent, but city officials and leading business men were elated over the turning of the waters by the levee.

CHATTAHOOCHEE IS 58 FEET AT EUFULA.

Eufula, Ala., January 19.—(Special.)—The Chattahoochee river registers 58 feet today. This is higher than in 37 years. All transportation is cut off except by rail.

SOUTH CAROLINA LOWLANDS INUNDATED.

Columbia, S. C., January 19.—With South Carolina rivers filled to overflowing in many sections and flooding the surrounding lowlands over wide areas, traffic on all principal highways of the central and southern parts of the state late today virtually was at a standstill.

Rainfall continued today over a wide portion of the state, and the highway department issued a warning against unnecessary travel over roads in the northern part of the section. Florida-bound tourists are reported held up because of the water-covered highways.

A washout on the Southern railway near here today disrupted schedules, and caused a delay of several hours on the Spartanburg-Columbia line.

The Savannah river at Augusta 5:30 tonight had reached a stage of 35 feet 10 inches, and rising. Hamburg, S. C., still was inundated by the flood waters. Other rivers were at the highest stages in several years, and expected to go higher.

MASONS DEDICATE DECATUR TEMPLE

Appropriate exercises, conducted by the grand lodge of Georgia, marked dedication Monday night of the newly-completed Masonic temple at Decatur, which was erected at a cost of $140,000.

Exercises were in charge of Grand Master James D. Hamrick, who was assisted by Past Grand Masters T. H. Jeffries, Charles L. Bass and Deputy Grand Master W. S. Richardson. The dedicatory address was delivered by Past Grand Master Charles L. Bass, and a history of the Pythagoras lodge was given by Past Master C. M. Canvasser. Other speakers included Past Master V. O. Kinsey, of Pythagoras lodge; H. W. Finch, high priest of Decatur chapter, No. 119, and Mrs. W. H. McLaran, of the Decatur chapter, Order of the Eastern Star. The musical program was in charge of Paul Crutchfield, who was assisted by the Kilt orchestra.

The new temple will be the home of Pythagoras lodge, No. 41, and Decatur chapter, No. 119. The Pythagoras lodge is the second oldest Masonic body in this vicinity, the oldest lodge being Kennesaw lodge at Marietta.

The new temple is located on the corner opposite the DeKalb county courthouse. The ground floor is occupied by the Decatur postoffice, the second floor by offices and the third floor is devoted entirely to Masonic work. The lodge rooms will accommodate 600 people, it is said.

Pythagoras lodge has a membership of 485 members, it was stated.

ATLANTA SUCCEUMBS AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

William G. Mills, 51, southern district manager of the National Carbon company, of New York and Cleveland, died Monday night at his residence, 137 Prado, after a short illness.

Mr. Mills is a native of Philadelphia, coming to Atlanta 14 years ago as a representative of the National Carbon company.

Since coming here he has been prominently connected with civic and social affairs in this city, and has a wide circle of friends. He was a member of the Rotary club, the Masonic club and the Capital City club. He also was an active member of the First Presbyterian church.

In addition to his widow, Mr. Mills is survived by one daughter, Miss Margaret Mills, of Atlanta.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later by H. M. Patterson & Son, funeral directors, in charge.

After battling a horse and otherwise raising havoc near Scarborough, England, a two-year-old stag, weighing nearly 300 pounds, outwitted the hunters and escaped.

WOMAN SHOT DOWN AS GIRL TUGS HAND

with him. I had not seen the man for a long time and never expected to encounter him again. There is no doubt that Organ shot me. I know him well and there is no shadow of a doubt."

She begged doctors to find her husband, who, she said, "Must know about this at once." Inquiries at his business address and residence were of no avail and searchers and he remained ignorant of the occurrence until two hours later when he read accounts of the shooting in The Constitution.

Husband Not Admitted.

He went immediately to the hospital where doctors were performing an operation on his wife, but he was not admitted to see her before the operation. He refused to comment on the affair further than to say that he did not know that "such a man lived in the world."

At his cell in police barracks, where he is held under a blanket charge of "suspicion," after his arrest by officers Johnson and Cartwright several hours after the shooting, Organ vehemently denied any knowledge of the shooting.

"Why, I have just returned from South Carolina and have not seen Mrs. Johnson since I arrived here last week. I admit I wrote her a letter while I was away, but I didn't shoot her."

When asked as to the nature of the letter's contents, he would make no reply.

Before Mrs. Johnson could complete her story to police, doctors ordered all persons away, deeming it necessary to probe for the bullets without any delay.

When she was taken to the operating room, she kept murmuring: "That man shot me and he frightened my baby."

ATLANTA HONORS LEE AND JACKSON

In reverent tribute to the memory of two of the greatest sons of the south—Generals Robert E. Lee and Stonewall Jackson—official Georgia paused in its duties on Monday and set aside the day as an occasion of honor for the illustrious dead.

January 19 is the birthday anniversary of Robert E. Lee, while Stonewall Jackson was born on January 21. Because of the closeness of the dates, the anniversaries are celebrated together each year.

The state capitol and all banks in Georgia were closed, the day being a legal holiday in Georgia.

Memorial exercises were conducted at the state capitol Monday afternoon under the auspices of Atlanta camp, No. 150, United Confederate Veterans, with the cooperation of local chapters of the United Daughters of the Confederacy and other patriotic organizations.

Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of Georgia School of Technology, delivered an inspiring address, not only paying tribute to the glory of lives which are past, but also pointing to the eternal glory of their names upon the honor scroll of history, which will be held up for all time as a pattern and a model for later generations of southern manhood.

Garland S. Prior, commander of Camp No. 150, U. C. V., was master of ceremonies, while Mrs. John A. Perdue, president of Atlanta chapter, U. D. C., acted as his assistant.

Music was rendered by the band of the Georgia Railway & Power company and the quartet of Trinity Methodist church. As the band, softly at first, then rising to the thrill of the immortal battle song, quickstepped through "Dixie," the gray haired veterans who sat in the hall of the house of representatives, where the exercises were held, leaped to their feet with a momentary return of the yore of youth and once again the Rebel yell echoed through the corridors of Georgia's state capitol.

Service crosses were presented to a number of sons of Confederate veterans who served in the World War by Mrs. Wilmer L. Moore, on behalf of the U. D. C., while honor crosses were also given to Confederate veterans.

The local alumni of Kappa Alpha fraternity held an informal dinner Monday night, at the Capital City club, in celebration of the Robert E. Lee birthday anniversary.

FULTON'S SALARY LAW TEST BEGINS

Test of constitutionality of the act of the Georgia legislature, passed in 1924, which put officials of Fulton county on a salary instead of a fee basis of compensation, began Monday before the Georgia supreme court when argument started in the case of William H. Abbott, tax receiver of Fulton county, against the Fulton county commissioners. The hearing was adjourned at noon until this morning, when Attorney Leon S. Tomlinson, of the firm of Dillon & Tomlinson, will conclude his opening argument.

Mr. Tomlinson, in his opening argument, stated that he expected to show that the salary system law violated both state and federal constitutions. He declared that it violated provisions of the Georgia constitution requiring all laws of a general nature to be uniform in operation in the different counties and also the provision that limits taxing powers of the counties.

The new law, he declared, makes it impossible for Fulton officials to exercise jurisdiction and powers equal to those of other county officials in the state and he stated that it would have the effect of placing an added tax burden upon the people of Fulton.

The case was appealed to the supreme court after Judge John D. Humphries, of Fulton superior court, had denied an interlocutory injunction petition asking that Fulton county commissioners be restrained from putting the salary schedule into effect on January 1, 1925.

When the commissioners asked Mr. Abbott for a statement as to the expenses of his office, he refused. The commissioners then fixed his salary at $7,500 a year. Mr. Abbott is now seeking to restrain the salary schedule from putting the salary system into effect.

According to quarterly reports filed in the office of the comptroller general of the state by county officials, the net revenue Mr. Abbott's office for 1924, under the fee system, was more than $20,000.

The case is of much interest not only in Fulton county, but in five of the other larger counties of the state, which also have taken steps to place their officials on salaries. Passage of the Fulton county salary system law was the result of efforts extending over several years and followed a referendum held last March, at which time the people voted almost ten to one in favor of the salary system.

STATE BANKERS' PLANS TOLD TO SECRETARIES

Joseph R. Murphy, secretary-treasurer of the Southern Bankers Publishing company and assistant secretary of the Georgia Bankers' association, addressed a large gathering of secretaries of civic and fraternal organizations Monday noon at the first 1925 monthly meeting of the Secretaries' club of Atlanta at the Wincoff hotel.

Mr. Murphy outlined the plan of organization, the functions and the accomplishments of the Georgia Bankers' association, the upbuilding of modern banking methods throughout the state and the economic betterment of the state as a whole. His address proved to be one of unusual interest and stimulated a lively round-table discussion among members of the club.

Other speakers were George Diebert, secretary of the Atlanta Safety company and assistant secretary of Atlanta; Jesse M. Vollmer, secretary of Employers of America; O. H. Mickel, secretary Atlanta Master Printers' club; "Cousin" Fred Houser, secretary Atlanta Commercial bureau, and Harry O. Mitchell, secretary Atlanta Foreign Trade club.

New members announced at the meeting were J. E. Craig, secretary Atlanta club; Kenneth Keyes, secretary Atlanta Merchants and Manufacturers' association; J. H. Lambert, membership secretary Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, and O. H. Mickel, Joseph P. McGrath, secretary Consolidated Employment bureau and vice president of the club, president in the absence of the president, B. C. Getzinger.

The next meeting will be held at the Wincoff hotel on February 16. Speakers will be Kenneth Keyes and O. H. Mickel.

SUPREME COURT PAYS TRIBUTE TO LITTLE

The Georgia supreme court Monday passed in its deliberations for an hour while memorial exercises were held in memory of the late William A. Little, of Columbus, a former justice of that tribunal from 1886 to January 13, 1903, when he resigned and Joseph R. Lamar, of Augusta, was appointed to fill the vacancy.

Associate Justice S. Price Gilbert, of Columbus, delivered the memorial address for the supreme court, while H. H. Swift, of Columbus, eulogized the late justice Little as spokesman of the committee named by the supreme court to arrange the memorial service, of which Dean William H. Fish, of Mercer university, and former chief justice, and former chief justice, Justice Richard B. Russell, former Justice John S. Candler, and Judge A. R. Lawton, of Savannah, who was unable to attend, but sent a communication which was read.

The supreme court chamber was practically filled when the exercises began at the noon hour. Mr. Swift, delivering his eulogy which was a tribute to the life and career of the former justice by one whom was intimately acquainted with him. Mr. Swift sketched the life of Judge Little from the year 1866, when he was credited with having commenced his public career as an attorney, to his appointment as solicitor general of the state in 1886; then his appointment as justice of the supreme court in 1886, and his subsequent reelection as speaker of that body in 1886. In 1891, the speaker declared, Judge Little was appointed by Governor W. J. Northen as attorney general of Georgia, serving until 1892; was appointed by President Grover Cleveland as assistant attorney general of the United States, and in 1895 of his election as associate justice of the supreme court. Judge Little, serving with Judge Andrew J. Cobb and Judge William H. Fish.

The address of Justice Gilbert was one of a personal tribute to the late justice, whom he unabashedly gave credit to for his, Gilbert's, achievements in life, and appointment to the supreme court.

Two Lawyers Leave To Present Claims Of Hopkins Heirs

Edgar L. Hopkins and Willy D. Styles, both of Douglasville, Ga., who claim to be heirs to the late Mark Hopkins, of Sacramento, Cal., who recently died without a will, leaving an estate valued at $30,000,000, announced Monday that their attorneys, Swift Taylor, Jr., and W. Paul Carpenter, both of Atlanta, would leave for California at an early date to present claims of the two men for their share of the fortune.

Mark Hopkins, it is stated, had two grandsons, William and Willy Hopkins, of Sacramento, Cal., who claim to be heirs to the late Mark Hopkins. Edgar Hopkins claims that he is the grandson of the former and Styles says that he is a grandson of the latter.

Mr. Hopkins and Mr. Styles stated that their fathers moved from the Crow Creek section of North Carolina into Georgia in 1849 at the same time Mark Hopkins and his brother, Moore Hopkins, moved out west.

Mrs. W. H. McLarin, wife of the president of the Fairburn, Ga., railway, also has laid claim to a share of the Hopkins estate, claiming to be a grandniece of the late multimillionaire.

M'GAUGHEY TO SPEAK AT ATLANTIC MEET

At the luncheon Tuesday at noon of the Atlantic club at the Robert

Wilton hotel, Snowden McGaughey, vice president of the Atlanta Trust company, will make a talk on the subject of "Banking." Alex M. Hitz, of the program committee states that the talk will be unusually interesting, and urges that all members attend.

A special financial report will be made by Donald Oberdorfer, treasurer of the club, and one or two other items of business will be taken up.

New York, January 19.—Reports of relatively heavy private ginning returns led to selling in the cotton market early today, but moderate declines were followed by rallies and the close was very steady at net declines of 1 to 9 points. May advanced from 23.92 to 24.14 and closed at 24.12, compared with 24.05 at the close Saturday.

The market opening steady at a decline of 2 to 5 points. Relative steady Liverpool cables and fear that some eastern belt sections were getting too much rain appeared to be offset by reports that private ginning figures pointed to a total of 13,230,000 bales ginned to January 16. These figures in running bales were compared with the government's December crop estimate of 13,133,000 bales of 500 pounds gross, and evidently made a bearish impression on local sentiment.

March eased off to 23.60 and July to 24.12 on the tendency to increase estimates of the supply, but comparatively moderate offerings were absorbed around these figures and the market steadied at midday on reports that another of the large trade interests had reduced its estimate of the East Indian crop by 350,000 bales, bringing that total down to 5,800,000. This reiterated of reduced crop estimates abroad seemed to offset the effect of the ginning figures and the afternoon rallies were promoted by reports of strength in the grain market and stocks.

Rumors that official figures on the world's consumption of all kinds for last season had been raised by nearly 600,000 bales, contributed to the late afternoon advance. March sold up to 23.82 and July to 24.33, or 4 to 10 points net higher, and the market closed within 2 or 3 points of the best.

Manchester advices were generally favorable and the afternoon advances here were accompanied by comment on the continued heavy exports which passed the 5,000,000 mark for the season so far today.

Exports today 64,665, making 5.

New York, January 19.—With a firm undertone prevailing in today's bond market, several foreign government and domestic corporation issues developed conspicuous strength and worked into new high ground. Trading interest centered principally in the St. Paul, New York Central and "Katy" railroads.

Prospects that negotiations would be opened for a resumption of debt payments continued to be the chief sustaining factor in the case of the Mexican loans. The sixes mounted more than a point to 41, within a fraction of last year's high level. An issue of 100,000 bonds of the St. Paul railroad bonds followed an upturn in the road shares apparently based on the belief that the present investigation of the road's position would lay the basis for a successful completion of its refunding program. The four of 1925 led the advance, with a gain of nearly 3 points and 10 to 15 points under the closing levels of Saturday. After this quiet up from the lows. The close was near the top, showing net gains for the day of 2 to 9 points.

One of the sustaining factors early in the day was an estimate by a prominent private authority making total ginnings to January 16 13,230,000 bales. This was a little lower than the government's December estimate of 13,133,000 bales of 500 pounds gross, and evidently made a bearish impression on local sentiment. The influence of this estimate was offset later by another private estimate of 13,350,000 bales ginned.

Although the exports for the day were large, totaling 64,665 bales, they exerted no influence. The total exports of the season to date reached 4,955,982 bales, or 1,327,000 bales in excess of last season's exports to date. It appears that this season will reach the 5,000,000 line this week. The certificated stock here has dropped to 95,042 bales, or about 25,000 bales less than it totaled about ten days ago.

Your Income Tax

Furnished by Bureau of Internal Revenue, U. S. Treasury Department.

It should be noted that the revenue act of 1924 provides specifically that the status of a taxpayer relative to the amount of his personal exemptions shall be determined by apportionment in accordance with the number of months the taxpayer was single, married, or the head of a family.

Under the preceding act the amount of the exemption to which a taxpayer was entitled was determined by his status as a single person, married person or the head of a family on the last day of the taxable year.

A taxpayer who was married on June 30, 1924, is entitled to an exemption of $1,750 for the first six months of the taxable year. If he is a single person, his exemption is $1,000 for the entire year. If he is married on June 30, 1924, his exemption is $1,750 for the first six months and $1,000 for the remaining six months.

On June 30, 1924, a taxpayer ceased being the head of a family and supported in one household a relative or relatives being dependent on him. He is entitled to a fractional part of a month's exemption for the period between June 30 and the date he became the head of a family.

The revenue act of 1924 provides for certain specified deductions from gross income in determining net income, among which are business expenses, interest on indebtedness, taxes, losses, and depreciation. Each will be treated separately.

Deductions for business expenses form the largest claim in the returns of many taxpayers. All the ordinary and necessary expenses of a trade or business, or profession, paid or incurred during the year for which the return is made are allowable deductions.

A taxpayer in trade or business may claim as deductions from gross income a reasonable allowance for salaries paid employees, amounts spent for advertising, premium for insurance against fire or other business losses, rent paid for store or warehouse, the cost of fuel, light, water, telephone, stationery, etc., used in his place of business, drayage and freight bills and the cost of operation and repair of delivery wagons and trucks.

A professional man may claim as deductions the cost of supplies used in his practice, expenses paid in the operation and repair of an automobile used for professional calls, dues to professional societies, subscriptions to professional journals, office rent, the cost of fuel, light and water used in such office and the hire of assistants.

The farmer who operates a farm for profit may deduct all amounts paid in the production and harvesting of his crops, including labor, cost of seed and fertilizer used, cost of minor repairs to farm buildings (but not the dwelling) and cost of small tools used up in the course of a year or two.

Deductions for business expenses must have certain qualities to be allowed. They must relate to a business, trade, profession or vocation in which a taxpayer has invested time and money for the purpose of a livelihood or profit. A taxpayer may conduct more than one business and claim a deduction for the business expenses of each provided he devotes sufficient time and attention to each.

WHEAT, CORN SEE NEW HIGH LEVELS

Chicago, January 19.—Hurried by speculative transactions of great volume, wheat and corn rose buoyantly in value today to new record heights for all deliveries here.

Number two hard wheat available at once brought $2.03 1/2 a bushel, and the leading future delivery, May, advanced to $1.90 1/2. A decided fresh upturn in wheat quotations at Liverpool, together with reports of much enlarged demand for breadstuffs throughout Europe, appeared to be chiefly responsible.

Corn finished at 1 7/8 to 2 3/8 up, oats showing 1 1/4 to 3/4 gain and provisions at a rise varying from ten cents to sixty-seven cents.

With announcement near the end of the day that the United States supply of wheat showed 3,672,000 bushels decrease, wheat closed at almost the top figures reached in the late developments included a report that the supply of durum wheat in America has been practically exhausted. There were two indications that possibility of a crop scare later in the season was giving even more strength to the July delivery here than to May. Besides, estimates were current that Germany and Scandinavia would need an immense quantity of rye this season, 75,000,000 bushels.

Inasmuch as the United States is the only country with any important surplus of rye, and as 75,000,000 bushels is double what could be obtained in America, the effect on the market was strongly in the direction of higher prices. Heavy selling to realize profits had virtually no apparent influence as a check on the upward swing of values.

Corn and oats acted in sympathy with wheat. Country buying of corn remained conspicuously in evidence. Provisions were responsive to the upturn in grains and hogs.

High Lights in Cotton Market

By THEO. H. PRICE,
Editor Commerce and Finance.

New York, January 19.—According to the unwritten calendar of the cotton year this is the "statistical" season. The most important figures that were brought to light last week were those of consumption in the United States during December.

The distribution for December, compared with the previous month and December last year, was as follows:

	Dec. 1924	Nov. 1924	Dec. 1923
Cotton consumed	532,407	528,238	493,780
In consuming establishments	312,473	310,720	287,128
In public storage and compresses	4,025,803	4,014,219	3,812,977
Exported	48,933	17,949	55,178
Active spinning	32,961,529	31,780,876	34,049,852

(The figures on cotton consumed and in stock are exclusive of linters.)

It will be noticed that the consumption exceeded last year by 68,000 bales. This is a much larger increase than was expected and the market ought to have advanced, but it declined instead. Just why no one can say.

The stocks held in consuming establishments are 308,000 bales less than last year and this too was bullish, but its significance was also less. The magnitude of the export movement, which is now 1,134,544 bales ahead of last season, is another bullish fact whose import was ignored. Confronted with a situation in which the facts conflict with the figures one naturally seeks for an explanation of the paradox.

In part it may be found in the stock market. It has been reactionary for the first time since the election and as it has recently given tone to the other speculative markets it is not surprising that they have taken on its latest hue.

But another reason why the cotton market has not reflected the bullishness of the week's statistics is to be found in what might be described as a subconscious fear that the crop will exceed the current estimates. This fear in so far as it is rational is based upon the fact that the insight movement up to December 31 is the largest on record. The following are the exact figures for each season of the present century:

Fine Arts and Drama League Will Feature Social Calendar

Society will be intensely interested today in two cultural as well as enjoyable occasions, the meeting of the Fine Arts club and that of the Drama League. Following these events will come social affairs, including bridge-tees, luncheons and supper parties.

Sir Paul Dukes, a distinguished visitor, will present "Russian Music Before and After the Revolution," in an illustrated lecture, at the January meeting of the Fine Arts club at 11 o'clock this morning at the home of Mrs. Mell Wilkinson on Peachtree road. Assisting Mrs. Wilkinson in receiving the members of the Fine Arts club will be the officers, who are Mrs. A. Ten Eyck Brown, president; Mrs. William H. Kiser, first vice president; Mrs. Joel Hurt, Jr., third vice president; Mrs. W. P. Hill, secretary; Mrs. Brooks Morgan, treasurer; Mrs. Wilmer Moore and Mrs. Paul Seydel, concert directors.

"Outward Bound," one of the most fascinating plays written by Vane Sutton-Vane will be interpreted by Mrs. Rogers Wilson this afternoon at the meeting of the Drama League.

Mrs. Wilson is one of Atlanta's most charming dramatic readers and instructors. She has been associated for some time with the Little Theatre guild and has given numerous very delightful readings for the various organizations of the city.

Two social affairs will honor Mrs. George Ard, of Washington, D. C., who is visiting Mrs. E. T. Bothe. Mrs. Ralph Gordy will entertain at luncheon, and this evening Mrs. J. A. Broach will give a bridge supper for Mrs. Ard. Miss Alice Carmichael's bridge-tee will compliment Miss Lillian McClelland, a charming bride-elect.

Miss Mildred Harbaugh, of Chicago, Ill., a lovely midwinter visitor, will be honored at luncheon by Mrs. Charles Waites at her home on Peachtree road.

The "Witches' club will give the annual "get-together" luncheon at 12:30 o'clock in Rich's tea room. The guests will include the honorary members and those who compose circle No. 1. The president, Mrs. B. S. Ward, will act as official hostess and the other officers include Mrs. Marguerite Murphy, first vice president; Mrs. Clarence Ivey, second vice president; Mrs. James A. Erwin, secretary; Mrs. W. E. Carues, recording secretary; Mrs. Paul Crutfield, treasurer, and Mrs. J. M. White, publicity chairman.

A delightful program of entertainment has been prepared for the visiting ladies in attendance upon the sixth annual convention of the Southern Builders' Supply association convention, which opened Saturday morning for a three-day session at the Atlanta Biltmore, by the local committee, headed by Mrs. V. H. Kriegshaber and Mrs. Charles Sciple as co-chairmen.

In charge. At 1 o'clock a luncheon will be given at the Piedmont Driving club and this afternoon the ladies will be taken to see Stone Mountain, and in the evening they will attend the dinner-dance at the Biltmore, given in honor of the delegates and their wives.

Bolling Jones
To Give Dinner.
Bolling Jones, chairman of the board of directors of the Fulton National bank will entertain at a beautiful dinner Thursday evening.

The affair will take place at the Piedmont Driving club and will honor the officers and employees of the bank. Mr. and Mrs. Jones will be assisted in entertaining by the officers and their wives.

Miss Callie Orme
To Be Honored.
Miss Callie Orme, lovely debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Orme, will be honored guest at the bridge-luncheon given by her aunt, Mrs. Wilmer L. Moore Thursday evening, at her home on West Eleventh street.

The guests assembled for dinner, wearing sport clothes, preparatory to seeking the "Bag of Gold." The color scheme of red, white and blue, was carried out in all details. On the dinner table, lovely red roses and white narcissi were gracefully arranged in a blue bowl. Red candles burned in silver candle holders at the four corners of the table, and the mints were red, white and blue.

Following dinner the guests, who numbered 18, started on the "Treasure Hunt."

Miss Louise Nelson To Have Informal Dinner.
Miss Louise Nelson will entertain Wednesday evening at an informal dinner at her home in Peachtree circle.

Covers will be laid for eight close friends of the hostess.

After dinner the guests will attend the rehearsal of the Junior League Folies.

Mr. and Mrs. Akers Have Dinner and Treasure Hunt.
Mr. and Mrs. William Akers, entertained at dinner Monday evening at 6 o'clock at their home on Seventeenth street, followed by a treasure hunt.

Informal luncheon on Monday in honor of Mrs. Ard.

The house was decorated with bright spring flowers.

The beautifully-appointed luncheon table was overlaid with an exquisite cover of real lace. Gracing the center of the table was a basket holding narcissi and carnations.

The guests included six close friends.

Tuesday morning Mrs. Ralph Gordy will entertain at a bridge party at her home on Clairmont avenue in Decatur in honor of Mrs. Ard.

Mrs. James A. Broach will entertain at a bridge party at her home on Oakdale road Tuesday evening.

Wednesday at 10 o'clock Mrs. Talmadge Lobb will entertain at a luncheon at her home on Oakdale road.

Thursday Mrs. Harry Poole will entertain at a luncheon at the Capital City club.

Mrs. James L. Kurfess will entertain at a matinee party Thursday at the Lyric theater.

Friday at 10 o'clock Mrs. O. B. Burkett will entertain at a bridge luncheon.

Saturday Mrs. Jo Harris will entertain at a luncheon at her home on Peachtree road.

Saturday afternoon Mrs. Ard will entertain in honor of her hostesses at a bridge party at the Biltmore.

Miss Maude McNeal Gives Dancing Party.

Miss Maude McNeal entertained at a dance Friday evening at her home in compliment to her club. The house was artistically decorated with ferns and flowers. Poissantes were grouped in vases throughout the room.

Mrs. Maggie Willis and Mrs. Walter S. McNeal, Jr., presided at the punch bowl.

Mrs. Pond Appoints Committee for Woman's Club

A motion read by Mrs. A. F. Samuel, secretary of the Decatur Woman's club at the meeting last Friday that a nominating committee be appointed by Mrs. Frank B. Pond, president, and that the regular election of officers take place at the next regular meeting in February was adopted. The nominating committee appointed consists of Mrs. W. D. Hoyt, chairman; Mrs. H. G. Hastings; and Mrs. J. A. Campbell.

One of the special features of the afternoon was a talk made by Dr. W. S. Elkin, offering the Decatur Woman's club a sale day at his drug store on Friday, February 6. The proceeds will be applied to the building fund of the club. A vote of thanks was tendered Dr. Elkin for his generous offer and it is hoped that Decatur will patronize the club at Elkin's drug store on this date.

An endorsement of the movement against the sale of pistols and fire arms was made by the club and a letter to this effect was sent to The Constitution.

VICTIM OF AUTO DIES AT GRADY

W. A. Rentz, 25, of Alpharetta, Ga., whose mangled body was found on a road near Grady hospital, died shortly after midnight Sunday at Grady hospital, where he was carried for treatment.

The body was found half submerged in a pool of water. Police believe that the victim was struck down by an automobile, and are conducting an investigation.

GRAY HAIR IS EASILY DARKENED

Tells How She Did It With a Home-Made Remedy.

Mrs. E. H. Boots, a well-known resident of Buchanan County, Ia., who darkened her gray hair, made the following statement:

"Any lady or gentleman can darken their gray or faded hair in dark, twenty years younger with this simple remedy, which can be made at home. To half a pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, one small box of Barbo Compound and 1/2 ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair every other day until the gray hair is darkened sufficiently. It does not color the scalp, is not greasy and does not rub off. It will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger."—(adv.)

Home-made, but Has No Equal for Coughs

Makes a family supply of really dependable cough medicine. Easily prepared, and saves about $2.

If you have a severe cough or chest cold accompanied with soreness, throat tickle, hoarseness, or difficult breathing, or if your child wakes up during the night with cough and you want quick help, try this reliable old home-made cough remedy. Any drug store can supply you with 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. If desired, this recipe makes a pint of really remarkable cough remedy. It tastes good, and in spite of its low cost, it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. It loosens and raises the phlegm, stops throat tickle and soothes and heals the irritated membranes that line the throat, and relieves the tubes with such promptness, ease and certainty that it is really astonishing. Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is probably the best known means of overcoming severe coughs, throat and chest troubles. There are many worthless imitations of this mixture. To avoid disappointment, ask for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.—(adv.)

TIGHT FEELING DISAPPEARS

West Virginia Man Tells How He Was Relieved of Stubborn Digestive Troubles by Taking Black-Draught.

Huntington, W. Va.—Telling how he obtained relief from very disagreeable symptoms of stomach trouble, Mr. Charles T. Wintz, of R. F. D. 4, this city, made the following statement:

"I began taking Black-Draught about fifteen years ago.

"I would have gas on my stomach that just pressed and seemed to shorten my breath, and I would have all kinds of feeling.

"My head would ache and I was in a very bad fix.

"I had tried remedies that didn't seem to do me any good.

"I saw Black-Draught advertised and sent for it.

"After taking a few doses, I knew it was helping me. It seemed to break up the gas, and the tight, bloated feeling disappeared, and I was like a new man. I would not be without Black-Draught.

"I can eat anything I want to.

"If I get dizziness in the head, Black-Draught relieves it.

"I give it to my boy, Leroy, for colds and biliousness.

"It is our family medicine for liver trouble."

Men and women who suffer as Mr. Wintz describes above, owe it to themselves to give Black-Draught a fair trial. Sold everywhere.

GOODMAN KEEP DAWES PROMISES

Berlin, January 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—Unequivocal recognition of the republican constitution of Weimar as legal and as the basis on which his cabinet was founded and restoration of Germany's intention to fulfill the provisions of the London agreement were the outstanding declarations of Chancellor Hans Luther's inaugural statement to the reichstag this evening.

The new chancellor announced that any attempt to alter the republican constitution by force or other illegal means would be sternly resisted and dealt with as high treason. Germany's adoption of the Dawes reparations plan and all it implies, the chancellor believed, also entailed Germany to expect a reciprocal measure of loyalty on the part of the other contracting parties to the pact of London.

Raps Non-Evacuation.

Non-evacuation of the Cologne zone by the allies, however, was in his opinion, plainly in contradiction of the letter and spirit of the London agreement and, therefore, constituted a bitter disappointment to the German people. The new government intended to propose an early inauguration of negotiations with the purpose of arriving at a speedy settlement of the impasse created through failure of the allies to evacuate the Cologne zone.

Referring to the administration of the Dawes plan through Seymour Parker Gilbert, Jr., Dr. Luther informed the reichstag that the agent general's organization was functioning smoothly and receiving the complete cooperation of German quarters. Both with reference to its position on foreign issues and internal policies, the new cabinet's program, as revealed by Dr. Luther's statement, is viewed in the various political camps as an effort to reconcile the acute partisan differences growing out of the recent crisis. The chancellor found the reichstag deputies, with the exception of the communists, well behaved auditors.

Socialists Disarmed.

The scope of the domestic reforms forecast is calculated to disarm opposition by the socialists, particularly in the case of the steel workers of an eight-hour day for steel workers and other industries where men are employed under conditions inimical to health.

The reichstag was crowded when Dr. Luther introduced his new cabinet. The chancellor paid tribute to the Marx government, which, he said, had led the German people along the path towards recovery. It would be the task of the new government to follow this path.

With reference to Germany's foreign policy, the chancellor declared his government would strive for a real and permanent peace among nations. Its policy would be based in its main points on the London agreement and the laws enforced by reason of this agreement would be loyally carried out.

Demands Disarmament Documents.

Dr. Luther reiterated the demand that the documents bearing on the alleged failures of Germany in the matter of disarmament should be furnished, so as to enable the government to reply.

Respecting Germany's position toward the league of nations, this he pointed out, had been made clear in the late government's memorandum to the council of the league, and he declared he would continue the previous government's efforts to relieve Germany from the unjustifiable reproach contained in the Versailles treaty regarding war guilt.

Dr. Luther foreshadowed simplification of the present taxation system, promising that the government would continue to abolish superfluous taxation.

ELEVATION OF GUNS BEATEN IN SENATE

By THOMAS L. STOKES.

Washington, January 19.—The movement by certain democratic senators to take issue with President Coolidge over the elevation of guns on first-line battlefields, foundered today when a showdown came, and it appears that the question is thoroughly dead. The house has been already to the presidential will and has refused to take action.

The attempt to revive the issue in the senate was thwarted Monday, when an amendment by Senator McKellar, of Tennessee, democrat, to the pending naval appropriation bill, providing $8,500,000 for gun elevation, was side-tracked by a vote of 45 to 22.

Another Coolidge Victory.

This meant another victory for President Coolidge, and incidentally cleared the road to another disarmament conference of one of its obstacles. The administration had said that it could not call another conference with its own hands clean if this action, opposed by Great Britain, were taken at this time. Outside of Coolidge felt that, meanwhile, such a step by this government might lead to competition of armaments among the various powers.

How well republicans fell in line behind the president in blocking gun elevation is indicated by the vote. Only one republican stood with McKellar, Hiram Johnson, of California. Twenty of his colleagues voted with the Tennessee senator, who forced the issue last Friday by a lengthy speech and the introduction of his amendment.

When McKellar called for action on his amendment Monday, Senator Hale, of Maine, chairman of the senate naval committee, raised a point of order against it, which was sustained by the chair. McKellar then moved to amend the rules so that his amendment could be included. This was defeated 45 to 22.

TENNESSEE GOVERNOR URGES TOBACCO TAX

Nashville, Tenn., January 19.—After simple inaugural ceremonies here today, Governor Austin Peay, beginning his second term as chief executive of the state of Tennessee, announced in his inaugural address his determination to carry out his plans for a levy a special privilege tax of 10 percent on manufacturers of tobacco.

The governor told the general assembly that the proposed tax "was the foundation of the entire program to raise a biennial budget of approximately $1,750,000 in excess of the last budget."

The revenues cannot be raised without this tax. Its enactment means the success, and its rejection the failure of my second term," he said in the course of his speech.

CHICAGO PLANS GREAT HOSPITAL, 20 STORIES HIGH

Chicago, January 19.—A 20-story high plan for which provide for a $25,000,000 project to include a comprehensive group of buildings near the new downtown Northwestern university campus for its professional schools, will be erected by the Wesley Memorial hospital.

Plans for the new hospital group were ordered begun, which provide for the election of George W. Dixon as president of the Wesley institution, after the trustees had purchased a university campus for its professional schools, will be erected by the Wesley Memorial hospital.

The decision was given in a suit attacking the validity of the Riggs gross income tax law, enacted by the 1923 general assembly. The case was heard on appeal from Pulaski county chancery court, in which the Riggs law was held unconstitutional. The action of the lower court was affirmed.

QUORUM CONFEREES NOT YET SELECTED

Washington, January 19.—The question of who will constitute the senate conferees on the Underwood Muscle Shoals bill had not been determined tonight, and until this decision is reached, no move will be made to take the bill off the speaker's table in the house and start it on its course for final consideration.

The plan to send the bill direct to conference will be abandoned unless assurance is given that friendly senate conferees will be named. If this cannot be accomplished, it is planned to refer the measure to the house military committee.

Outwardly, there has been no change in the situation during the last few days. Behind the scenes, there has been considerable activity, but no concrete plan has been developed when congress closed for the day.

Refuse to Waive Privilege.

The hitch in the plan of house leaders to send the bill direct to conference has been caused by their failure to get the consent of the senators, who by right of senate precedent would constitute the conferees to waive their privilege to represent the senate in conference.

These senators, Chairman Norris, of the senate agriculture committee; McNary, republican, Oregon, and Smith, democrat, South Carolina, who have sanctioned the leaders' proposal. All of them voted against the Underwood bill. If they hold out in their position, the Underwood bill will be dead for the session.

Want Underwood as Conferee.

Friends of the measure insist that Senator Underwood, democrat, Alabama, who is not a member of the senate agriculture committee, should be included among the conferees by right of authorship.

When asked tonight how he stood on the question of the appointment of conferees, Senator Norris, who led the fight against the Underwood bill in the senate, issued this statement: "I have nothing to say about the appointment of conferees."

The so-called regular republicans leaders and the Underwood conferees, after a consultation with President Coolidge, seem to be excited and all worked up on the question as to whether the senate should waive its privilege to select conferees on the Muscle Shoals dispute.

"The unbroken custom of the senate does not seem to suit them at all they are afraid to break it for fear the precedent would come home to plague them some time in the future. I am not in their confidence and I have no knowledge as to just what they are going to do to get out of the dilemma."

LOWER EXPRESS RATES FOUGHT BY RAILROADS

St. Louis, January 19.—The order of the interstate commerce commission lowering rates in western and southern territory, was attacked as unfair and arbitrary by railroad attorneys, who were still presenting their arguments when the hearing adjourned today.

The railroads' counsel argued that the order was issued by the interstate commerce commission last May after the body had been shown that the roads were short $35,000,000 in revenues.

The government is prepared to present statistics showing that the lower rates will have the effect of increasing the business of the railroads. Under the interstate commerce commission order, the rates would be reduced four cents per hundred pounds in western states and 1 1/2 cents in the south, it was said.

Georgian Shoots Marshal Down And Wounds Self

Clayton, Ga., January 19.—(Special.)—John E. Burton, town marshal, was shot down and fatally wounded today in this town by Bertragg, son of Hurschel Bertragg, of Towns county. Bertragg was drinking and when the marshal attempted to arrest him, drew his pistol and shot the marshal four times, witnesses declared.

After shooting Burton, Bertragg turned his pistol on himself and inflicted what is thought to be a fatal wound. The bullet entered his left breast and passed near the heart.

Both men are still breathing but little hopes are entertained for either. Bertragg, after inflicting the wound on himself, and in a half-conscious condition, said he did the shooting and that silly girls were liable to get a fellow into just such a scrape.

He begged for his pistol to complete his effort at self-destruction.

Requisition Refused For Georgian Wanted For Wife Desertion

Two requisitions from the governor of Alabama for men wanted to answer indictments in that state, and now wanted to be in Georgia, were refused for hearing before Governor Clifford Walker on Monday. No one appeared to plead in either case.

Requisition was refused for Talmer Smith, of Columbus, Ga., who, papers from Alabama show, is charged with wife desertion. Affidavits from a number of Columbus citizens showed that Smith had resided in this city for the past 10 years and bears a splendid reputation. He is about 21 years of age. His marriage license, showing that he married the woman, is charged with deserting in Columbus, on November 19, 1924, also was attached.

Requisition papers for Jack O'Hara, also said to be in Columbus, who was charged with theft of $15 in Lee county, Alabama, were honored.

ARKANSAS INCOME TAX LAW UNCONSTITUTIONAL

Little Rock, Ark., January 19.—The Arkansas supreme court today held that the state is without power, under the present constitution, to impose an income tax for state purposes.

The decision was given in a suit attacking the validity of the Riggs gross income tax law, enacted by the 1923 general assembly. The case was heard on appeal from Pulaski county chancery court, in which the Riggs law was held unconstitutional. The action of the lower court was affirmed.

Dixie Building Supply Men To Name Directors Today

Election of directors and reports of resolutions by the audit and nominating committees will feature the second-day session today, at the Biltmore hotel of the sixth annual convention of the Southern Builders' Supply association. More than 500 delegates are in attendance.

The convention will convene at 10 o'clock in the assembly room of the hotel. The session will be for delegates exclusively to hear reports of committee chairmen.

Directors will be elected at the morning session, while the afternoon will be devoted to joint meetings of dealers and manufacturers. Matters of mutual interest will be discussed.

Large Attendance.

With an unusually large attendance the convention got under way at 10 o'clock Monday. Introductory remarks were made by V. H. Kreighshaber, chairman of the local committee. The address of welcome was delivered by Mayor Sims, followed by a brief welcome address in behalf of the Chamber of Commerce by J. Milton Bell, vice president of the chamber.

John D. Baker, past president of the Southern Builders' Supply association, responded to the addresses of welcome.

Principal addresses of the opening session was delivered by Walter F. Jahnecke, president of the association. Judge Jahnecke, a Washington, D. C., lawyer, a member of the general council of the association.

Judge Watkins spoke on "Material Men's Liens," stressing the point that a statute should be drawn by the association and presented to law-making bodies for ratification and adoption.

NEW ROAD PROJECTS ARE PLANNED IN COBB

Acworth, Ga., January 19.—(Special.)—Cobb county citizens are authorized over the recent agreement between the authorities of this county and the federal and state highway departments to pave six miles of the Dixie highway, a Washington, D. C., town county line one mile north of Acworth, and extending through the town of Kennesaw, a distance of five miles. The project will include 15 miles of paved roads recently has been completed between Marietta and Atlanta on the same highway.

Since the action of the Cobb county authorities, it is learned that the Bartow county commissioners have applied for federal and state aid to extend the highway in Bartow county from Acworth to Cartersville, a distance of 15 miles.

These extensions will furnish a paved road leading into Atlanta from Acworth, a distance of 50 miles on the Dixie highway.

During wet weather, as at the present, the proposed paved stretch is almost impassable on Sunday. The project of this week the garages of Acworth and Cartersville were kept busy all night pulling tourists out of the mud. In these places, the Sunday business is divided as follows: one-half paid by the federal government; one-fourth by the state highway association; and one-fourth by the counties, the last of which is paid for in convict labor and material.

The Acworth to Kennesaw paving is authorized to begin in the early spring as soon as the weather will permit.

Junior Residents Discuss Proposal To Honor Division

A movement to designate parts of Courtland, Juniper and Washington streets as "22nd Boulevard," in honor of the "All-American" division in the World war, will be discussed Thursday night at a meeting of the Juniper Street Improvement club.

James L. Logan, prominent Atlanta realtor, who is head of the club, stated Monday that other matters of particular interest to Juniper street residents and property owners would be taken up and urged all citizens of that section to attend.

The meeting will be held at the home of Arnold Broyles, 155 Juniper street.

J. A. BLEDSOE JOINS EMERSON SHOE STORE

J. A. Bledsoe, well-known Atlanta and popular shoe salesman, who has been connected with two of Atlanta's large shoe stores, has been appointed manager of the Emerson shoe store, on Marietta street.

Mr. Bledsoe has a host of friends throughout the city, who predict for him continued success in his new position.

MRS. BOYD'S BROTHER DIES IN WASHINGTON

News of the death Saturday night of H. R. Dart, of Washington, D. C., was received in Atlanta Monday. He was the brother of Mrs. L. C. Boyd, prominent Atlanta and Brunswick woman. In addition to his sister he is survived by his widow and two daughters.

Insulating the walls of a house with a lining of asbestos felt will cause a saving of up to 10 percent in fuel bills of winter, according to recent investigation.

Child-birth

Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers!

When the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps in your entire life. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the famous remedy "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., writes:

"With my first child I had a doctor and a nurse and then they told me to use 'Mother's Friend' with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse. We had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes. 'Mother's Friend' was our mother and grandmother did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to 'Mother's Friend,' 166 Atlantic Ave., New York, for a free illustrated book. Information every expectant mother should have. 'Mother's Friend' is sold by all drug stores—everywhere."

SICK WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Can Be Carried Comfortably Over The Critical Period by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

—Note Mrs. Headen's Case

Macon, Georgia. — "During the Change of Life I suffered with my whole right side and could not lie on my left side. I was in bed about two months and could not get up as my son would lift me. After doctoring without relief a man named 'Mother's Friend' was sent me by a friend. I began taking it and in two weeks I could get out of my bed by myself. I am now 53 years old and in better health and stronger than ever in my life. I have recommended the Vegetable Compound to many suffering women, young and old, and you may use my name anywhere as long as you please. I will be glad to answer any letters sent to me." — Mrs. F. B. HEADEN, 5 Holt Avenue, Macon, Georgia.

In a recent country-wide canvass of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, over 200,000 replies were received and 98 out of every 100 reported they had been benefited by its use. For sale by druggists everywhere.

'Love's Wilderness' Thrills Movie-Goers

At Big Metropolitan

A new Corinne Griffith was introduced to movie-goers by First National Monday night when "Love's Wilderness," her latest picture, was screened at the Metropolitan theater.

The play calls a spade a spade. The lithographs told us, veiled from the frail orchid of the society drawing room type to the frayed rose of poverty, but never before have scenario writers hurled her against the primitive drudgeries of life.

The story, by Evelyn Campbell, introduces the star as romantic young southern girl whose disappointment in love leads her to elope with a comparative stranger.

The husband, played by Lew Kelly, abandons her during a blizzard in the Canadian wilds.

Finally regaining her southern home, she wed her first love (Holmes Herbert), in the belief that she is a widow. The climax is reached on a honeymoon in the South Sea Isles.

"Locked Doors" is even better than "The Last Set."

Produced by the same man, William Fox, and with Betty Compton, one also, the new Paramount picture was shown at the Rialto theater yesterday, is that director's first work by far.

Theodore Roberts, cigar and all, returns to the screen in this production. He and Miss Compton are featured with Kathryn Williams, Florence Eltz and Robert Edson in the leading roles.

"Roaring Lions at Home," a screen play of the novel by William Whitely Hubner musical program, Pathe News and other novelties also are shown at the Rialto theater.

Robert Edson, Henry Walshall

and Robert Cain are but a few of the big names playing in support.

and Robert Cain are but a few of the big names playing in support.

A new Corinne Griffith was introduced to movie-goers by First National Monday night when "Love's Wilderness," her latest picture, was screened at the Metropolitan theater.

The play calls a spade a spade. The lithographs told us, veiled from the frail orchid of the society drawing room type to the frayed rose of poverty, but never before have scenario writers hurled her against the primitive drudgeries of life.

The story, by Evelyn Campbell, introduces the star as romantic young southern girl whose disappointment in love leads her to elope with a comparative stranger.

The husband, played by Lew Kelly, abandons her during a blizzard in the Canadian wilds.

Finally regaining her southern home, she wed her first love (Holmes Herbert), in the belief that she is a widow. The climax is reached on a honeymoon in the South Sea Isles.

"Locked Doors" is even better than "The Last Set."

Produced by the same man, William Fox, and with Betty Compton, one also, the new Paramount picture was shown at the Rialto theater yesterday, is that director's first work by far.

Theodore Roberts, cigar and all, returns to the screen in this production. He and Miss Compton are featured with Kathryn Williams, Florence Eltz and Robert Edson in the leading roles.

"Roaring Lions at Home," a screen play of the novel by William Whitely Hubner musical program, Pathe News and other novelties also are shown at the Rialto theater.

Robert Edson, Henry Walshall

and Robert Cain are but a few of the big names playing in support.
